Acorn Park - Weekly Roundup

What an amazing day!

We began today with Scrooge. It was great fun and I have uploaded a couple of pictures for you and your child to look at and talk about. My favourite part was when Jacob Marley appeared down the chimney!

This is the first time we have been able to use our new sports hall as a performance space and it was perfect.

We also had many pupils who dressed up to add to the atmosphere. This meant a great Victorian day was had by all. You looked fantastic.

It is of course Remembrance Day today and pupils have also been reflecting on this. We observed a minute's silence with respect and understanding.

I have enjoyed visits from various pupils this week. Today Freya came to see me to show me some very well thought out powerpoints which she had worked on individually. One of them was to ask for a treat but she had not just thought about herself - she wanted all her class to share it. A true example of our school value of kindness.

One of our older pupils, Luke, has been working on his GCSE Speaking and Listening presentation. I apparently featured heavily in this. I have decided that I am not a fan of photoshop as a result! He is, however, living out our value of working hard.

I would like to thank one of our older pupils, Alex. He spent time in the art room with a younger student who was needing support to regulate. Alex talked through coping mechanisms to help him stay calm. He also helped him draw his own character and gave him tips on how to make his drawing cooler. A truly wonderful thing to see. Again, living our value of kindness

Finally, our staff star - Emma CD. Emma makes such a difference to pupils' lives. She has the highest expectations, limitless care and ultimate belief in each and every one of them.

I am informed that 7 weeks tomorrow is Christmas Eve. We love Christmas at Acorn Park and will be letting you know about our Christmas Performance and Fair plans next week. We do know that Christmas can be a time of joy and of challenge for our children. For this reason, we will not be decorating our classrooms or doing too much Christmas preparation before the 5th December.

Enjoy your weekend.

Pip
