 Good morning everyone!

I hope everyone has got their weekend off to a good start! My note on weather was well timed last weekend, with such a chilly week this week! Thank you to everyone that has been coming in with lots of warm clothes, please keep this up!

.  This Week's Highlights

 Golding class took part in a science experiment testing for acid and alkali solutions in household objects using litmus paper.

 Murphy had a great cooking session making a healthy stir fry and learning about different food groups. We also enjoyed some planting at Horticulture with Mark. Murphy also had great independence sessions where students made their own hot drink

 Dodd class enjoyed a successful trip to Swallow Aquatics; they always listened to staff and enjoyed their time off site.

 Donaldson class have done fantastic work learning about the 5 senses this week - especially enjoying smell and taste!

💖 Care

Bonnie L has been helping her peers tidy away and has been sharing poppets with a friend too! Theodore W & Harriett SB, they have been such great friends to each other, its lovely to see such positive friendships blossom.

🏆 Strive

Arthur B has been a great help to Amber in Animal Care this week, he helped her organise his group and completed lots of little farmer jobs for her.

Charlie S For being so determined with his speaking and practicing all his sounds and words with staff. Charlie's confidence has grown massively with his talking, and he is trying so hard every day.

🌱 Grow

Ruby S has done some amazing research and work on 'how spiders stand up on 8 legs' Luke F & Dax RB in recognition of the excellent way they represented our school during their 'employer experience' with Manchettes. They were mature, engaged and showed a positive attitude.

Cameron A completed some really cool maths, pie charts for all the animals inside and out.

Eddie & Riley T for completing some excellent work in Geography!

🚀 Thrive

Luca K for engaging in a great session with Louise and another peer making a mechanic Lego space buggy. Luca was calm throughout and showed great resilience and empathy to his peer and they both worked as a fantastic team.

Harry S has been demonstrating some brilliant talking and communication this week. Fletcher and Dixon class for seamlessly combining together to share timetable space to enable Fletcher class to have horticulture lessons.

Josiah I for amazing engagement today, he completed all of his lessons and has been playing so well with his class mates and staff this afternoon.

James B for excellent imaginative play, pretending to be a shark whilst eating his fruit, even the staff joined in.

Have a great weekend! 😎👏

Adam 😊
