🌿 Good afternoon, everyone!

Wow, what a day! It was awesome seeing so many adults and children dressed up in World Book day costumes. Have a look at some of our photos from today!

🎯 This Week's Highlights 🎯

🎓 All of our students from Y9 upwards visited the careers festival yesterday – the students were great! They visited lots of different employers and education providers to give them some ideas of what they would and could do after school.

🌲 Murphy went on a trip to Thetford Forest. Students explored the equipment and enjoyed meeting the Grufalo. We also did the sound trail and loved exploring the different forest instruments. Students then practised their signing and choosing in the cafe choosing an ice cream. Fantastic day!

🎭 We had DramaTots visit us this week, all classes in formal primary got a chance to go and enjoy a session. The theme matched our school theme of faraway places.

🌟 Student Stars of the Week 🌟

💖 Care

Archie M for supporting a peer with care and respect, it was lovely to watch such kindness, he has had a great week in terms of enthusiasm and engagement in lessons too!

Evie B has been amazing, using her initiative looking after Stilton & Cream the rabbits, she is working way above the qualification she is doing.

Eli two days this week has gone out of his way to help another student having a tricky time, letting them have free reign of all his fidgets and playing games with them as distraction

🔄 Strive

Isaac Hea & Tajus S, both boys have had changes to their usual learning this week and have been happy and willing to adapt to these, they were both fantastic in Thursday's lesson on adjectives, both engaged and contributed and showed great enthusiasm,

🌱 Grow

Ziggy S for dealing with a lot of changes this week really well

Theodora K for using visuals to express her needs to her staff.

Stas for being open and approaching multiple companies during the careers fair, chatting with them and engaging brilliantly in the activities provided.

🚀 Thrive

Jake S for great communication with peers and staff this week, he also stepped out of his comfort zone and tried some new things.

Sam S for amazing enthusiasm in Geography, he stood at the front of the class and created some weather codes for the other students.

Have a great weekend! 😊📖

Adam and Emma 😊
